[Why do I come to this class every Wednesday?]

WRITING: 10/2/2002

I first came to this class through the introduction of my friend Steve Ting on the past 3/13, whom had been in the class for several years and said in an occasion that he liked and enjoyed the class very much. Ever since I came the first time, I have been attending the class so far never missed any time. I have been getting to know the class more and more from Steve and my own observation, and have found the class well managed and proceeded. Teacher Ms. Jane Priewe and class members are all very friendly and tolerable to my awkwardness in the class because of my handicapped English status. They are very helpful and encouraging.

I feel there are at least the following benefits to me to be a member in the class. (1) I can improve my English in the class. (2) I use the writing in the class as a chance to organize some of my thoughts and experiences in my life. (3) Largely speaking, I consider my attending the class being good to the goal of mixing and exchanging the East and West culture. (4) I can make friends in the class and make my retirement life more enjoyable. (5) I feel no pressure to meet the challenge in class.

I remember the saying in a reading I noticed long time ago, that a real gentleman should be neither "in the way" nor "out of the way". Since I don't feel being "in the way", so I remain here not "out of the way."
