

第85篇 [相反人物的說明] [A Main Character and its Antagonist ]

命題大意：如題。

寫作大意：假定阿扁總統在不同場合的演講

ASSIGNMENT：5/19/2004

Write a personal ad for your main character. Then write one for the primary antagonist.

WRITING: 5/26/2004

In the following writing, the main character and the primary antagonist is the same person but appeared to the world only two months apart in entirely different mood and attitude. His name is Chen Shui-bian, ROC president who just won his second four-year presidential term and delivered his inaugural address on MAY 20, 2004.

Chen Shui-bian delivering inauguration speech:

Dear countrymen, ladies and Gentlemen, We are now enjoying the best democracy and freedom in the world. We the people now in Taiwan are like family folks, though some of ancestors and us may have come from the Mainland in different places and different time. Though we may speak a bit different dialect but we are in the same nation the Republic of China. In my tenure we will accomplish the revision of our constitution to best suit the development of our country but never change the basic terms regarding the fundamental principle and government organization, flag, anthem, territory definition inherent to the country Republic of China. I will form a committee to discuss the possibility to improve the relationship with Mainland China based on mutual benefit and dignity. Unity of the people in ROC Taiwan and peacefulness on both sides of the Taiwan Strait are my keynote concern...Long live with Republic of China!

Chen Shut-bian delivering election speech:

Dear Taiwanese countrymen, Vote on number one on the ballot the only Taiwanese candidate. You give the poll to a Taiwanese president means support Taiwan. Only the Taiwanese president would do well for the Taiwanese people. Taiwan is a country, not a province of China. We have the best democracy, freedom, and economic prosperity created by ourselves. We cannot accept the repression of China. People from the mainland are outsider came with outside governor. You made the best decision elected me the president in 2000; you will elect me for the second term. When I win this term, I will give a poll for setup our new constitution; a constitution best fit our country. Since China threatens us with greater military power, we will buy more advanced arms to protect ourselves..
